

LESSON NO. 16—THE CITY EDITOR PUTS THE JINX ON SCOOP

STANDARD SPORTING PAGE

BUTTE TEAM HAS A STAR PITCHER

The game between Ogden and Butte was called at the end of the fifth inning Wednesday afternoon on account of rain, and the score was 6 to 0 in favor of Butte. The local players could not hit Dell, but the Butte men batted everything that Erickson tossed across the pan. Erickson was yanked in the early stages of the game, after he had been hit five times. Jacks took his place and only allowed one hit.

HELENA OUTCLASSED.
Salt Lake won her Wednesday afternoon game at Great Falls by a score of 7 to 1. Jensen had the penultimate winners at his mercy as far as hitting was concerned. They did not find him at all. What few hits they gathered were badly scattered and did not count. Murphy made the lone point for Great Falls by walloping the ball for four bases. Williams is credited with having pitched a great game for Great Falls, but he was unable to undo the poor work that Bittruff did while in the box.

HOME RUNS FOR HELENA.
Luss and Sullivan each made a home run for Helena in the game Wednesday afternoon, and the Helena team defeated the Missoula men by a score of 10 to 3. Three of the Missoula pitchers were thumped out of the box and if Blankenship had possessed more pitchers they too probably would have been batted off the mound, for the Helena men were hitting hard Wednesday. Rosebourn started to pitch for Missoula, but had to give up. Zamlock replaced him, and then Knox took his place. The game was a slaughter and the Missoula men were the victims.

At New York—New York defeated Chicago. In spite of the fact that the visitors were without Zimmerman and Tinker, who have been suspended for three days, Chicago played a strong game and was in the lead until the eighth. In the first half of that inning Richie collided forcibly with Myers at the plate. He was unable to resume and Brown, who went into the box for Chicago, was batted for two runs. The game was Marquard's thirteenth straight victory. Score: R.H.E. Chicago 2 9 3

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
Washington 5, Detroit 1.
At Detroit—Johnson was invincible and Washington made it four straight. The visitors would have scored a shut-out except for a misplayed fly that went for two bases, a passed ball and McBride's failure to touch Gaynor on a double steal. BRIDWELL RETURNS TO BOSTON BRAVES

Boston, June 12.—Al Bridwell will rejoin the Boston Braves on or about July 1. This good news was received in a letter from Bridwell to John M. Ward, president of the Braves. Bridwell said that his foot was improved and that he expected to be in shape to play half the season. The Boston leader thinks that Al will be on hand by the time his team starts on its next western trip.

With Bridwell in the lineup the Braves will be encouraged because shortstop has been the weakest spot in the team since the season opened. It is believed by the Boston Nationals and by others that Bridwell's return to the game will mean many victories. Bridwell's absence is held responsible for the loss of many of the games the Braves have dropped.

"I am satisfied that if Al Bridwell had been with us from the start," said President Ward today, "we would not have lost a considerable number of the games we did lose, particularly on the western trip, and that the team would, now be in fourth or fifth place."

WALLACE HAS GOOD SHORTSTOP RECORD

The record compiled by Bob Wallace as shortstop probably will stand supreme forever. The record books do not show where there is an infielder who has performed at that position for thirteen years and has such a remarkable average.

In the thirteen years Wallace has fielded for a percentage of 940—100. In the thirteen years he topped the field. That was in 1902, when he broke into the American league. However, he always has been near the top. His total number of assists and putouts shows that he covers acres of ground in his territory.

Wallace's complete record as a major league shortstop follows:
Rank Yr. G. PO. A. E. Pct.
7 1899 98 232 375 57 914
3 1900 127 328 447 49 940

CUBS GET BEST OF BARGAIN IN TRADE

Boston, June 12.—Tommy Leach, who figured with "Lefty" Loffield in the trade for Artie Hoffman and "King" Cole, will become a regular in the Cub outfield. This has been definitely decided by Manager Chance.

Chance also decided at length upon the trade that came as such a huge surprise to the followers of the club. It seems that the loss of Hoffman hurts the players more because of his being one of the "old guard" and, popular as Artie was, his former mates have not hesitated to show that commercialism has not yet crowded sentiment out of baseball.

There is another angle of the trade to be considered. That is whether the Pirates or the Cubs will benefit most from the exchange. Cole for Loffield gives the Chicagoans the better of the argument unless the former should strike another winning streak, which isn't likely. With Hoffman and Leach the case is reversed, but Chance does not agree to this argument, and he expressed his reasons for believing that Leach will be a more valuable man to the Cubs than Hoffman has been.

STREET HOPES TO REACH 1,000 MARK

Gabby Street, the star catcher of the Washington Senators and the only one of the few receivers in the league who cares to handle Walter Johnson's swift benders regularly, is out to make a new catching record.

Before the curtain drops on the season of 1912 Street hopes to have reached the 1,000 mark in the number of games he has caught. In the nine years he has been playing baseball he has stood behind the plate in exactly 931 games. This does not include the number of games in which he has performed as a pinch batter, a first baseman and the like.

Street started playing in organized baseball in 1903 with the Hopkinsville team of the K. I. T. league, catching 73 games that year.

With Terre Haute of the Central league in 1904 he saw service in 120 games before joining the Cincinnati Reds, where he participated in 12 more, making 142 for the season.

The following year he was shifted from Cincinnati to Boston and landed along, catching in 30 contests, injured fingers keeping him out of the game. He was shifted back to the minors, and 1906 had caught 10 games for the San Francisco team of the Pacific Coast league before the earthquake came and put a cessation to hostilities.

After the big disaster Street went east and caught 97 games for the Williamsport team of the Tri-State league, and the following year went back to San Francisco and took part in 154 games.

Washington bought him in 1908 and he has remained in the capital ever since. His record with the Senators has been 128 games in 1908, 137 in 1909, 89 in 1910 and 100 in 1911.

EACH TWIRLER IS SOME CLUB'S JINX

Philadelphia, June 12.—Most managers work their pitchers in turn, but Connie Mack of the champion White Elephants doesn't. Mack's system is to select the pitchers who are the most successful against certain clubs. With the advent of Harry Davis as manager of the Cleveland team next year will undergo a change in its system of utilizing box-men. Both McGuire and Stovall, former Blue leaders, if their slabbens were in form worked them every fifth day, but since Davis is a graduate of the Mack school it is thought that the new leader will pattern his methods after Mack's. Connie switched his pitchers so that each man did his best work against three or four clubs.

Cy Morgan was saved for the Naps, Washington and St. Louis. He started thirty games and twenty of them were against these clubs. The task for Plank was to beat Boston. Of the twenty-eight games he twirled, seven were against the Red Sox, who found it hard to beat southpaws. He was also saved for St. Louis, which he faced six times. Bender was used against Detroit but twice, the first time on August 27. Coombs, the iron man, had no special teams to face. In the St. Louis and Boston games Plank, however, got the preference. Krause, a southpaw, twirled half of his eighteen games against the Red Sox and Tigers. Often during the season Mack kept a pitcher idle for eighteen days, and frequently one pitcher was used twice inside of three days.

chance of winning they sat up and began to take notice. That is, a few did. The rest gave me the quiet "ha, ha." But when I told the skeptics that there would be considerable coin to back the white man when the odds are quoted, provided the price is in accordance with the dope on the battle, they listened to my spiel with a bit more respectful attention.

"There is one thing sure as fate, and that is Flynn will be well handled during the training period and well cared for in the ring. He will climb through the ropes in better shape than for any battle of his career. He will have a greater knowledge of the fine points of boxing than ever before; he will have more weight than when he tackled the negro several years ago, and for the first time will have been properly conditioned and trained."

"Tommy Ryan, than whom there is none more qualified to condition and second a fighter, has full charge of the aspirant for the title. I consider Ryan the greatest trainer in the world and when I say that I am not peddling hot air, I know whereof I speak."

When Jim Jeffries first came east he had size and avoirdupois to recommend him and that was about all. In his first appearance as the star of a bill that embraced Bob Armstrong and Steve O'Donnell as adversaries, he scored a miserable failure. In fact, it was this poor showing that landed Jeff a big piece of Camembert, and consented to the match, after making the big fellow agree to take the small end of the purse, regardless of the result.

Good old Bill Delaney had charge of Jeffries at the time and called in Tommy Ryan to his aid. Between the pair a first-class article in the way of a fighter was turned into the ring one June evening just thirteen years ago to wrest the title from one of the greatest scrappers in the history of the sport. Bill Delaney was a great trainer.

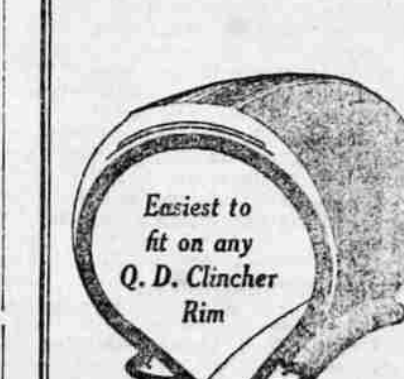

DE ORA WIN AGAIN.
Trenton, N. J., June 13.—Alfred de Oro, former world's champion at pocket billiards, scored another point for the title last night against Edward Ralph, present champion, by capturing the second block of 200 points, his opponent's 180. This gives De Oro a lead of 71 for the two nights' play.

DILLON DEFEATS JACK (TWIN) SULLIVAN.
Buffalo, N. Y., June 12.—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis defeated Jack (Twin) Sullivan of Boston in a 10-round bout last night. Ralph Collaway, a negro boxer of Los Angeles, collapsed after a preliminary bout. He was unconscious at midnight.

New York, June 13.—"Here in the east the apathetic feeling that exists toward the coming championship battle between Jim Flynn and Jack Johnson is in startling contrast to the sentiment throughout the middle west and south, from which sections of the country I have recently returned," says James J. Corbett.

"In conversation with a bunch of well known sports in a local resort the other day I took mental inventory of the views of the lot, and to be frank, they had it figured as already 'in' for the big black. A number had not even taken the trouble to investigate Flynn's record at all, but had taken it for granted that because Johnson is champion he is unbeatable. Snap judgment of this kind is too often the rule where championships are involved, and frequently proves costly to those speculatively inclined who back opinions based on such an unsound basis of calculation.

or himself, and, like good men in all lines, was quick to recognize and appreciate ability in rivals. His selection of Ryan as an ally proved that Billy knew his little book thoroughly.

If Jim Flynn has the making of a champion in him Tommy Ryan will find it and develop it as no one else in the business can. His great skill as a teacher of boxing and conditioner of men helped make Jeffries the heavyweight champion, and the gift of imparting his knowledge of the ins and outs of the game may accomplish as much for the Pueblo ex-fireman next Fourth of July.

WEBSTER TO BOX TWO SAME NIGHT.
Danny Webster, the coast featherweight scrapper, seems to be suffering from an enlarged cranium now, and has written to Salt Lake offering to meet Jimmy Reagan and Tally Johns for 10 rounds each on the same night, and says he will agree to beat both boys. Jack McDonough at once wired back offering to have Johns meet Webster for a substantial side bet, and Webster will probably awake with a shock from his bad dream.
